Shell Plans Aid to Schools With Lecture Series

J. R. Minnich, senior technologist at Shell Chemical Company's Torrance Rubber Plant, has announced plans for the 1960-61 industry-education lecture series which are held annually in cooperation with area school officials.

Minnich heads the program for the Gardena, Jordan, South Gate and Washington High Schools.

Teams of Shell Chemical scientists lecture chemistry and other science classes and perform demonstrations which illustrate principles and methods of processing.

Minnich said the lectures this year will include discussions of hydrocarbon chemistry, the industrial laboratory and its methods and the polymerization process used in rubber and other products.

In addition, lectures will discuss career opportunities in scientific fields, Minnich said.

The program is sponsored by the Southern California Industry-Education Council in cooperation with city and county Schools. The program has been in operation since 1956 and is designed to provide students with up-to-date information on the practical application of scientific principles.

Parking Perk-Ups

The spreading Junipers, — especially Tamarix Junipers — are ideal for perking up parkways. Landscapers use them effectively with slabs of concrete and if your city street department will let you, try combining the two. Lay out a framework of redwood headers, pour concrete in every other one and plant the rest to Juniper.

English Ivy is one of the oldest, easiest and still best methods of chasing weeds from parking strips or any area in the garden. It is also probably one of the fastest to fill out.

POLICEMAN'S SHOW—The lovely DeCastro Sisters will be on hand to entertain Saturday evening, Nov. 19, when the Torrance Police Officers stage their annual show and dance at the Long Beach Memorial Auditorium, police officials said today. Tickets, $3, may be obtained from any officer here. Proceeds will aid the department's youth activities.
